Victory Flag Dedicated At Sunday Evening Service

There was a pleasing program of service in the Washington Avenue Presbyterian Church Sabbath evening, when the Victory flag, recently won by the church was dedicated. The music was inspiring and as the flag was brought into the room and unfurled by Dr. F. C. Stahlman and Harry A. Williams, the entire audience rose and stood at salute while the dedication scripture was read.

The theme of dedication was an ode of heart affection for the Hour of God.

The flag is quite a large one, with a white background and a red cross, with seven blue stripes upon it. The exercises were in keeping with the recent victory of the church in going over the allotment given it by "The New Era" Committee of the Pittsburg Presbytery.

FIFTEENTH SAILED ON SATURDAY LAST

The Fifteenth Engineers sailed on Saturday from France, according to a telegram r eceived in Pittsburg on that day. Their time of arirval at New York will depend upon the speed of the boat on which they embarked, but they should arrive some time between the 26th and 28th. Preparations for receiving the regiment in Pittsburg, in which a number of Charleroi citizens will take a prominent part, will go steadily on, and by the time the regiment reached New York everything will be in readiness for them. Pittsburg promises the organization a splendid reception.

The best way to champion the truth is to tell it.

METHODISTS LAUNCH CAMPAIGN TO CANCEL THEIR CHURCH DEBT

Congregation Surprised But Respond Nobly to Appeals Made

CAMPAIGN CONTINUES ALL WEEK

A surprise was sprung on the congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal church at their Sunday morning services when a drive was launched to clear up the church debt before the campaign for the centenary fund opens.

At a meeting of the official board held Wednesday evening last it was decided to make a strenuous effort to clear off the church debt of $5,900. Of t his amount $900 will be taken care of by the surplus from the current expense fund, leaving a balance of $5.000 to be taken care of in this drive. The plan of the Board is to secure one hundred $50 Liberty Bonds, these bonds to be donated by members of the church, or their equivalent in cash. These bonds will not be placed on the market, but will be deposited in one of the local banks as collateral for a loan sufficient to pay off the debt, the difference in the interest charge, 1 3-4 per cent, being paid out of the current expense fund. This plan has the endorsement of the Liberty Loan committee of Washington county and is, so far as known, original with the official board of the local church.

The church services Sabbath morning were conducted by Rev. Carnahan of Monongahela and at their conclusion Dr. B. D. Hetrick took charge of the meeting and announced the purpose of the Board. He immediately began a canvass of the congregation and before he left the rostrum had secured $2,500 in pledges, which is considered a splendid start. The drive will be continued all this week with a full expectation of raising the amount desired. All reports will be made at the morning service next Sabbath and all members of the church are being urged to attend, as well as to take an enthusiastic interest in the campaign and push it to a successful conclusion.

Three committees have been named to have charge of the campaign, who will solicit every member of the congregation during the week. These committees are as follows:

First Committee—W. H. Milliken, chairman; W. D. Pollock, Prof. J. R. Carroll, Prof. T. L. Pollock

Second Committee—T. H. Warrensford, chairman; D. H. Gluni, L. J. Mitchell and B. K. Barnett.

Third Committee—Dr. J. W. Furman, chairman; T. F. Lindsay, L. W. O'Neil, L. H. Goehring.

Mrs. Carrie Willday of Uniontown and Mrs. B. L. Miller of Huntington, W. Va., spent Sunday with their niece, Mrs. Charles Burd of McKean avenue.

DONORA ASSESSOR RESIGNS HIS JOB

Capt. Gustave Schaaf, who has been the assessor of Donora for many years, has resigned his position because of the fact that Controller Underwood i nsists on holding him down to a compensation that will not justify him in doing the work. As a consequence the assessment of the borough has not been completed. The borough council ,together with the borough solicitor, has taken up the matter and will try to arrange with the commissioners to have the work completed. Capt. Schaaf may be placed back on the job.

CAMPAIGN A SUCCESS

Expect Belgian Baby Fund to Reach a Total of Over $800

RETURNS NOT ALL IN YET

The sale of "Forget-Me-Nots" in Charleroi during the latter part of last week, for the relief of the Belgian babies, will result in the collection of about $800.00, according to the prediction of Mr. Charles of the Savings and Trust Company.

The public schools of the borough raised $464.86 on Thursday and Friday of last week, while the street sales on Saturday under direction of Mrs. Ray Humbert added $233.68 or a total of $698.54. To this total will be added the sales from Lock Four, which is expected to reach about $150.00 or almost $850.00 as a grand total.

There were 720 flowers sold in the local campaign and as none of them were to be sold for less than 10 cents it will be seen that the expectations of Mr. Charles will likely be met.

The campaign was considered a splendid success and with every town in the country working along the same lines it is anticipatel that many hundreds of thousands of dollars will be at once available for this fund to relieve the children of Belgium.

Miss Mary Stephens of Shady avenue and Fourth street sold the largest amount on Saturday, turning in $25.79.

A large number of California merchants were called to appear before Justice Hornbake of that town on Friday last and fined for selling goods at short weight. The campaign against this short weight method was conducted along the same lines as those which prevailed in Charleroi and Donora.

SOLDIERS WHO "KNOCK"

The New York Sun of March 31 publishes an anonymous letter from a soldier of the American Expeditionary ones that could be probably republished in every newspaper of this country. In general it is a warning that the American public will get "a block picture" of just about everything from many of our returning soldiers, for the simple reason that the American people are "constitutional knockers" and the soldiers for the most part are not exceptions. "If there is a prominent American characteristic," writes this observant doughboy, "it is knocking. And the next prominent characteristic is bragging. When we have a sympathetic audience we knock, when it isn't so sympathetic or has claims of its own we brag. Returning soldiers coming to a sympathetic audience—home folks—knock, and the Americans here do the same among themselves. But let a German open his trap, just to ask a question, for instance, and you would not believe that the same people are talking."

The average doughboy fights bravely and is enormously proud of his country and its army, but when he has nothing else to do, true to his birthright, he will sit and "knock"—the government, the war management, the French people, everything under the sun, even America, "by the hour." The writer of this remarkable letter says he understands the stories of returning soldiers and admits that he himself expects to do some knocking when he comes home, for "there have been things to criticise." Nevertheless he asserts that the work of the American war machine in France "has been great from start to finish," and that he knows this is so because his line of duty gave him exceptional opportunity for observation. It is true that the soldiers have had "hard trials," but "corresponding to every kick there is something to brag about."

And the triumphant issue of the great effort inspires him. He regards the victory he "prayed for" as "the judgment of God on the work of the devil"—concluding: "There are evil ways among the victors, there are faults in allied soldiers and nations. But the sum total of them is nothing compared to the work of the satanic alliance—Germany, Austria, Bulgaria, Turkey—all crooked, all lustful, all persecutors of others (and their own peoples) and all licked."

THE SAVINGS OF VICTORY

Americans generally are woefully unappreciative of the savings of our victory over Germany. We have lost our sense of perspective in the gladness that the end of hostilities brought to us all. In our getting back to business.

We are too much inclined to regard it all as a closed incident.

Germany had set $40,000,000,000 as the amount of the indemnity she would demand of America after she had subdued the world.

And had she won Germany would have collected it.

Right now she would have been emptying the warehouses of America of their store of raw materials. She would have been taking inventory of the vaults of our banks. She would have been keeping the presses of the bureau of engraving and printing busy making American greenbacks. And the mints working overtime.

You and I and the other fellow would have been subjected to a quiz beside which the income tax collector's would have been a joke.

Every dollar that went to fill the German coffers would have been lost to America for all time.

German liners, instead of bringing back our boys as they are today, would have been hurrying to the Fatherland cargoes that would put the dreams of Pizarro and his lust for treasure trove to utter shame.

Our railroads would have been cluttered up with special trains carrying the loot of America to the Atlantic seaports. Our industries would have been sacrificed wantonly to the German ambition to monopolize the world trade. Depression would have been mantling the country like a shroud.

And Mr. Farmer, instead of getting $2.26 a bushel for his wheat this year would be lucky to escape his barns left standing.

We must not forget these things now that Uncle Sam asks us for additional financial assistance.

We must appreciate fully these enormous savings of victory.

And prove it by subscribing liberally to the Victory-Liberty Loan.

PRIVILEGED WASHINGTONIANS.

Everybody wants "self determination" in these times and no few are even clamoring for the right to watch over and regulate their neighbors. It is not to be wondered at that the people of the District of Columbia should want to be "Americanized" and demand the right to vote, in spite of the paragraph in the Constitution which vests in Congress exclusive legislative power over the seat of Government. The Washingtonians want to elect their own mayor instead of having the President act in that capacity when he appoints the District's commissioners. They do not say so, but presumably they are willing for Congress to continue to cut down their taxes by saddling one-half of the expenses of the District on the whole Union of States—one of the unusual privileges which Washingtonians enjoy. In the revolutionary period following the War for Secession the District's desire to vote and govern itself was granted. In consequence it accumulated a debt of twenty millions in three years and Congress found it desirable to take charge again.

From all accounts Washington has cleaner government than any large American city and certainly its citizens are peculiarly fortunate in the matter of taxes, the only price paid for such extra advantages being the lack of the ballot. Many outsiders in these times would gladly change places with them. Another interesting point is that the great majority of the residents of the District can retain their citizenship elsewhere and when the desire to cast a ballot is strong enough they can take a train and vote in the old home town. As a matter of fact Washingtonians belong to the privileged rather than to the disadvantaged class.

SLIGHT DROP IN PRICES

Though consumers can see no difference as yet, it is gratifying to learn of a slight drop in wholesale prices during the first two months of the new year. "Marked decreases in the two months," says the Monthly Labor Review for March of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, "took place in several of the commodity groups, food etc. dropping from 207 to 204 cloths and clothing from 246 to 231 and metal products from 183 to 172." Smaller decreases are shown in farm products, fuel, lighting and lumber, while there is no change in house furnishings and "miscellaneous" increased from 204 to 206.

Among important articles whose wholesale prices averaged loss in January than in December are mentioned cotton, corn, hides, tobacco, butter, cheese, eggs, lard, corn meal bacon, hams, cotton and wollen goods, cattle, sheep, peanuts, poultry and potatoes. To the long and only slightly comforting showing is added the superfious and comical-moderate remark that "whiskey averaged higher in price."

To the victors belong only a part of the spoils in these times. The Post Office Department will hold a civil service examination for the selection of a postmaster for Boston, an $8000 a year job. Thirty-nine candidates, Democrats and Republicans, have already entered the lists and these are said to include the State Mayor of Boston and an ex-Secretary of State.

No less than 5,500 Americans who in France have been officially marked "missing" after careful and prolonged inquiry. The proportion of the missing is greater than in previous wars because of the modern engines of destruction capable of blowing into minute fragments whole squads of men and rendering identification of a single victim impossible.

Lloyd-George says that "the League of Nations represents the greatest attempt that ever has been made to substitute reason and justice for force and intrigue as the governing principle of international relations." The question is whether it is practicable enough to be made successful.

A terrible story of German brutality to wounded American and allied prisoners comes from veterans returned to Camp Dix. The wounded were allowed to lie for days among decomposing bodies of the dead. Arms and legs were cut off without real reason and when there was not even the flimsiest excuse "trigger fingers" were deliberately whacked off, thus preventing any effective soldiering in the future. Such are a few of the items in a special to the Philadelphia Record of April 3.

The American and allied troops in the Archangel region of Russia have not only endured an arctic climate but have lacked the inspiration of a definite purpose and, because of their small numbers, of substantial results. We hope it is true that they are to be withdrawn.

Harrison, N. Y.—"When my first child was born I did not know about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and had a very hard time. Take things as they come if you know what to do with them when they come. If not, make them come in the manner or quantity that you can handle them.

To Have and to Hold.

You never can tell. Many a fellow who tells a girl he couldn't live without her eventually finds himself tied to her apron strings.—Philadelphia Record.

Evangeline.

Longfellow's beautiful story is not historical. It was based on the fact of the expulsion of the Acadians from Grand Pre, but beyond that the story is fiction.

Civilization's Restraints.

Wise laws and just restraints are to a noble nation not chains, but chains of mail, strength and defense, though something of an incumbrance.—Ruskin.

The Difference.

Flat head is quite as bad in politics as flat foot is in military life. Not only that, but 80 per cent of the flat foot cases are curable.—Houston Post.

Inconsistent.

Lots of men spend half of their time complaining of life's brevity and the other half in trying to kill time.

All Approve of It.

Thrift is a religion with all men. Even if they don't practice it, they approve of it.—Toledo Blade.

Pedantry.

Pedantry consists in the use of words unsuitable to the time, place, and company—Coleridge.

SPLENDID TALKS AT HIGH SCHOOL CHAPEL

Rev. C. Argyle Kellar, pastor of the First Presbyterian church gave a splendid talk on "Habit Formation" at the chapel exercises, held at the high school this morning. The address was brimful of the best of advice and was given an attentive hearing on the part of the student body

Last Friday morning Rev. T. D. Rees, pastor of the First Baptist church appeared before the student body at the regular chapel exercises. Instead of an address, the reverend gentleman gave a most stirring interpretation of that classical recitation, "Spartacus's Address to the Gladiators."

TEN-HERBS CAUSES GREAT SENSATION

"Ten-Herbs" Expert Claims Great Curative Powers For His Medicine

In a recent interview with the Ten-Herbs Expert, who is introducing and explaining the merits of Ten-Herbs, he said: "Few announcements in many y ears have caused such wide-spread interest in medical and scientific circles and among the public in general, as that recently made regarding the discovery of Ten-Herbs the new herbal medicine and its relation to the blood of thehuman system.

"The wonderful power of Ten-Herbs to rebuild the natural strength health and vigor of the blood and mind is now attributed by the public to its blood b uilding powers for Ten Herbs, I claim, regenerates the human blood, for it has been demonstrated beyond the possibility of a doubt, as vouched for by Pittsburg people in signed testimonials, that Ten-Herbs supplies nature with the elements which the so absolutely essential to the formation of new blood by causing the stomach to perform its functions properly.

"The discovery of Ten-Herbs has revived popular interest in the old question, 'What is the life of the body?' Scientists have always claimed that the blood is the life, that it is the immediate source of all nourishment and strength for every nerve, muscle and organ. They point to the fact that when the body is robbed of blood as by hemorrhage it dies that when the blood is of poor quality the organs are weak and now I claim that Ten-Herbs, which is known to regenerate the blood, also rebuilds the strength and vigor of the entire system.

"To the general public the discovery of Ten-Herbs has a practical interest of far-reaching importance for it is known that the world is literally full of people whose blood is below the standard of vigorous health and whose strength and vital resistance to disease are therefore subnormal. Almost every household, it is said, contains one or more persons of subnormal vitality, not necessarily invalids, but weak, run-down, nervous and generally debilitated, who are prone to diseases of every kind. To these Ten-Herbs will come like a 'ray of hope,' and prove of inestimable value in rebuilding the natura strength and health and regenerating the blood."

Ten-Herbs is sold in Charleroi at Henning's Drug Store.

With the bursting of the buds this Easter there wells anew in hearts through the world the spirit of service.
Service, Man to Man, and Nation to Nation, this is the vision which comes with peace, like the first faint glow of the morning,

GOOD RESULTING FROM WAR

Country Has Been Aroused, as Never Before, to the Value of Practical Sanitation.

"Already the people are awakening to the value of sanitation such as the army is now practicing. Chattanooga and other cities adjacent to army camps have taken a hint of what it really means to clean up a city. Vice has been hunted to its last hiding place and liquor has become a curiosity. Military inspectors are forcing the clean-up of theaters, hotels, restaurants, soda fountains, fruit and ice cream stands. They say to the proprietor: 'Do this' or 'Do that,' and he does it with alacrity. If he doesn't, a soldier with gun and bayonet is presently seen standing at the door of his place to warn other soldiers not to enter, incidentally advertising the unsanitary conditions of the place as effectually as if he cried: 'Unclean! unclean!' This humiliating experience befell some rather prominent concerns last year, but you may be sure that it hasn't occurred lately. Citizens exclaim delightedly: 'Why, I feel perfectly safe to eat and drink anywhere now. I know that everything's clean.' Think you that they will want to go back to the old regime of non-inspection? Hardly. If they may have anything to say about it, sanitation has come to stay.

"What a glorious thought it is, to make a nation clean and free from contagion! Out of the wreck and horror of this war many blessings will come; and not the least of them the physical purification of America as a result of the augmented training and the broadened vision of the army doctor."—Century Magazine.

HIGH-CLASS WOMEN WRITERS

Fair Sex Has Taken a Prominent Place in Literature, and in the Production of Plays.

Further signs of the "emancipation" of women are seen on the covers of new books and magazines. The names of women authors, except in the case of war books, where the women are at a disadvantage, seem to outnumber the men. In no class of writing are the women unrepresented. For many years women have been writing novels and doing a good job of it more than occasionally, as readers of Jane Austen, George Eliot, the Brontes and others less known will bear witness. Among contemporaries there are perhaps as many women novelists from whom a skillful and high-class work can be expected as there are men.

Until a few years ago the woman playwright was more or less a rarity. Looking back over the history of the theater it will be difficult for the average person to recall a single feminine name that stands out prominently through connection with the making of plays. Last year several of the most stimulating and interesting plays seen were by women writers. Names of women dramatists on Broadway theater signs are almost as common as those of men.

Paquin Turning Out Army Clothes.

Mme. Paquin, the world-famous modiste, is now making clothing for our army.

Whenever anyone congratulated the late M. Paquin upon his success, and praised those wonderful creations in feminine apparel which the world and his wife flocked to see, he merely replied, "The credit belongs to madame, not to myself."

M. Paquin started life as a bank clerk. Madame was a saleswoman in a big Paris dressmaking house when they married. She induced him to leave the bank and open a small costumer's shop known as the Maison Lelanne. That shop has long ceased to exist, but from it sprang the huge business house of Paquin, which the founder eventually sold to a company with a capital of $2,500,000.

Willing to Salute.

An Irish priest was proudly boasting to his visitor, an English clergyman, of the great respect of his parishioners for their pastor. Strolling along a country road at the time, they met a little boy who was endeavoring to keep in check a large goat. The clergyman passed, but the boy did not raise his hat. "Is that one of your parishioners?" demanded the English clergyman.

"I am sorry to say he is," replied the other. And calling to the boy, he demanded: "Is that the way you are taught to respect your clergy? Why did you not salute?"

The youngster, with both hands on the rope replied: "If your riverence houlds this wan I'll salute ye."

"Dat man 'rived at muh residence," related battered Brother Utterback, "and when I specified how-come dat he was pompousin' all over de place dat-uh-way, he said he was muh wife's fust husband. I axed him how did dat fact 'fect me. He 'nounced dat he would pow'ful soon show me. And he did, too! He slapped and bommered me fum yuh to yander. De gen'leman mought not uh-been muh wife's fust husband but he' sho' was somebody mighty impawtant!"—Judge.

Plain Fare.

"There's nothing esthetic about a pig."

"So it seems."

"Why, even when a chef puts a paper dingus on a broiled pork chop it is regarded as more or less of an interloper by fastidious diners."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
